State, shouting out in terms rising from extravagance to blasphemy the merita of their millionaire employer; we have seen caucuses snapped, as in Broome, Chautauqua, Cortland and other counties; proxies forged, as in Orleans county; conven dions purchased, as in Wayne county; delegates openly bribed for giot and disorder, as in Jefferson county; an attempt to deceive a whole community by a muzzled press, as in Eric county; newspapers blackmailed, as in Monroe and Onondaya counties; and who can estimate the amount of lying, blackmail, bribery and corrupt promises necess ry to make such a kind of campaign even partially successful?

The two most important committees of the convention will be those of credentials and platform. Should Heirst capture the preliminary organization of the convent. and platform. Should Hearst capture the preliminary organization of the convention he would be in position to seat all those delegates who have been elected by the mettiods described in Mr. Osborne's speech at Albany, and then, too, the Hearst people would be in position to shunoiate a platform steeped in socialism and anarchy. In many conventions the committee on resolutions are considered more than ordinarily or many conventions the committee on resolutions are considered more than ordinarily important, but never before in the history of the Democratic party of the State of New York will these two committees be called upon to exercise a more potent influence for good or for lasting direster.

The Hearst tactics in this convention promise to be thoroughly Hearstian. In a word they are the methods of a wild cat. They claw here and claw there, caring little for consequences except to their own skirs. One of the methods of the Hearst people will be to substitute Hearstites of more than usual viciousness for delegates controlled by Hearst who do not promise to pan out.

controlled by Hearst who do not promise to pan out.

In this way the Hearst people propose to substitute ex-Representative Francis E. Shober of New York and William F. Mackey of Buffalo, who have nothing to lose and everything to gain if Hearst should become Governor of the State. The Hearst people in a word want all the bitter speakers they can rake and scrape up to go into the convention and make things how. Two can play at that game, though, and it was said to night that it may be necessary for Mayor McClellan and District Attorney Jerome to be substituted in the place of two other delegates, for it is very generally remarked that Mayor McClellan with his earnest voice and dominant intellect and District Attorney Jerome, with his habit of speech, a terror to his enemies, would not hesitate a serror to his chemies, would not hesitate to go at the Hearst people in lively fashion. All sorts of claims have been put out by the Hearst people as to their preliminary strength in the convention. They are not bound by the every day rule of mathematics. They believe in the Chandler cry:

"Claim everything and they cry fraud."

No matter what Mr. Hearst says, no matter what his managers claim, no matter what his managers claim, no matter what lingy. Conners says, the following is a truthful schedule of the situation:

the actual figures to-night are given in the foregoing schedule.

The fate of this convention rests upon the verdict to be given by the Democrats of New York city, especially of New York and. Kings counties. The responsibility resting upon the shoulders of Charles F. Marphy of Tammany Hall perhaps is not readily understood by him. Mr. Murphy is not by any means in the same class as a Tammany leader with John Kelly or Richard Croker. At no time in Mr. Kelly's career did he refuse to take counsel with friends who could have no other interest save the advancement of Mr. Kelly and Tammany Hall. Mr. Kelly departed from Tammany Hall. Mr. Kelly departed from this rule once in 1879, bolted a Democratic State convention and turned the State over to the Republicans. Tammany did not recover from that blow until two years later. Richard Croker never refused, save once, to heed the advice of disinterested friends.

That was in the campaign of 1898, when Mr. Croker sacrificed a Democratic candidate for Governor by refusing to renominate Supreme Court Justice Daly. Augustus Van Wyck would surely have been elected Governor that year in the estimation of many Democrats, and it is not a secret that Theodore Roosevelt, the victorious candidate for Governor in that year believed at one time that had the campaign lasted ten days longer Van Wyck would have despite Mr. Croker's conduct

There are no political rhapsodies here.

No political sentiment finds a lodging spot in the minds of these practical Democrats. Yet it must be said that there are in the Daly affair. sentimentalists here who spoke with some-thing akin to pathos to-night when they remarked that they never thought to see the day when the party of Martin Van Buren, Marcy, Seymour and Tilden would have to fight for its very existence against a candidate of a guerilla convention, whose theories and sayings are without a single basic Democratic principle. To these old line Democrats the situation here is pecul-iarly distressing. They speak of "this dear State of ours," and want to know if it is State of ours," and want to know if it is to be turned over to such a man as Hearst. To them the Hearst movement is incredible. ble, and they could not, they declare, understand anything about it until they read ex-Mayor Osborne's speech at Albany. Moreover, they say they cannot understand why Mr. Murphy of Tammany can for a minute hesitate in his course unless he be utterly stupid and utterly without Demo-cratic conscience. These old line Demo-crate go on to say that Mr. Murphy cannot injure the up-State organization by coming out for Hearst half as much as he can smash Tammany Hall for fifty years to come. smash Tammany Hall for fifty years to come. These Democrats who have been with the party since Tilden's time say that Mr. Murphy and Tammany never had a finer opportunity to rehabilitate the estimation of the State and nation than to come out flat footed for a sound Democratic candi-ate in this convention.

The prejudice of the Democrats against The prejudice of the Democrats against Tammany in the minds of those now alive to-day began with the Tweed ring expasures, and was intensified by the attitude of John Kelly in 1879 and Richard Croker in 1898, and now Mr. Murphy, it is declared, is dribbling along, shuffling, hesitating, thinking only of himself and nothing whatever of the future of Tammany and still less of the city of New York. Just as sure as Mr. Murphy gives any enmany and still less of the city of New York.

Just as sure as Mr. Murphy gives any encouragement to the Hearst movement.

Democratic solons say, just so sure will New York city reject Hearst, reject the Hearst Democracy and turn the city over to the Republican party.

MURPHY HAS NOMINALLY 57 OF THE 105 DELEGATES.

But Not on the Hearst Proposition-Two Beaten Leaders Exclude the Winners From the Commention Halls-Other wise Everything Was Very Peaceable

Although Charles F. Murphy elected a nominal majority of the delegates to the Democratic, State convention at Buffalo at the Assembly district conventions held last night nobody pretends that they all stand with him on the proposition to turn the entire delegation over to Hearstunder the unit rule. Noses will not be counted on this until the caucus to be held at Buffalo Monday night.

Of the 105 delegates from this county three to a district, fifty seven are known as Murphy men and will represent the districts carried by Murphy at the primaries on Tuesday: That would be a sufficient number, of course, providing none of them balked, to clap on the unit rule and throw the vote to Hearst, but until the caucus nobody can be sure how many will balk.

Contesting delegations were elected in four districts, the Seventeenth, Nineteenth, Thirtieth and Thirty-fifth. In the first three districts named the contesting delegations are made up of Murphy men and they will claim the right to be represented in the caucus. That would give Murphy nine more votes possibly, but it isn't likely that this claim will be recognized, as such contests are left to the convention.

In the Seventeenth district, where R. D Williams, the McClellan candidate, beat Matt Donohue at the primaries, two conventions were held in the same clubhouse. The regular convention was set for 8:30 clock and the place designated under the law was the Nameoki Club at 233 West law was the Nameoki Club at 233 West 100th street, which is Donohue's headquarters.

Williams, the elected leader, went to the clubhouse with his brother at 6:30 and found Donohue on the steps. Donohue blocked their way and asked them what they proposed to do.

"I'm the elected leader of this district and we propose to hold a convention here," said Williams. Donohue talked it over a few minutes with his lieutenants and then tald Williams be could use the second floor few minutes with his lieutenants and then told Williams he could use the second floor of the club for his convention.

A lot of people had expected trouble and while the argument was going on between the two leaders a crowd blocked the street. Pretty soon thirty policemen came along, went into the club and formed in line from the second floor to the street. Everybody who went in had to pass through this line of cops. A lot of superfluous this line of cops. A lot of superfluous handy men tried to force their way in, but Williams stood out in front and prevented

The Donohue men made no trouble. Williams passed all his men up to the sec-ond floor. The Donohue men gathered in a room on the first floor and after about a hundred had been passed in the doors were locked and a convention was held at which these delegates were named to go at which these delegates were lainted to Buffalo and make the contest; Matthew F. Donohue, John W. Russell and George W. Bauchle. They said they would present evidence of fraud at the primaries and that they expected to be seated. The McClellan men did not have the same cour-tesies extended to them in the Mineteenth, which is Fire Commissioner O'Brien's diswhich is Fire Commissioner O'Brien's district. The place designated for the convention was 70 Manhattan street, where J. J. Hahn, one of the two Murphy candidates for leader who were defeated, has his headquarters. When James Ahearn, the leader elected at the primaries by the McClellan side, showed up with 54 of the 56 delegates, Hahn and his men stood at the entrance and refused to allow the Ahearn men to go in.

Finally the doors were closed and locked in the faces of the McClellan men.

The Ahearn followers kicked on the door and demanded admittance.

"What's your business?" shouted out a Hahn man through the keyhole. The Ahearn people said they had come to elect delegates.

Anearn people said they had considered at the delegates.

"This hall's engaged. Git!" said the Hahn men through the crack.

The Ahearn men decided that the doorway was as good a place as any for a convention that would meet the legal requirements, so they convened there and elected a temporary organization. Then it was resolved to adjourn to the Ahearn clubhouse at 358 West 118th street, where the regular delegation was elected. egular delegation was elected.

In the meantime the Hahn men, with their castle barred, proceeded to hold own convention and named these Charles Hahn, James F. Reilly, Timothy

Charles Hahn, James F. Reilly, Timothy Dempsey, the Murphy men in the Thirtieth, followed exactly the same tactics, forcing the Nagle men to convene on the steps of their chibhouses. The Mohawk Club, the headquarters of John F. Cowan, had been designated. Cowan and his followers got there early and kept out the Nagle men by looking the doors. After completing a temporary organization on the stoop the Nagle men held the rest of their convention in Nagle's headquarters at the Kanawha Club. The Nagle men were instructed to vote in the convention for any structed to vote in the convention for any one favored by George B. McClellan

The Cowan men named the following as their delegates: John F. Cowan, Wallace Fraser, William J. Ellis. Fraser, William J. Ellis.

Joseph L. Berry, the new Park Comissioner of the Bronx, who was defeated for the leadership of the Thirty-fifth Assembly district by William E. Morris, elected three delegates in his clubhouse next door to the Tammany organization headquarters. They are Commissioner. Berry, Joseph J. Marron and Louis A. Risee. They were instructed for Sulzer. They will fight for recognition in the convention.

JUDICIARY TICKET MAKING.

Citizens' Committee's Work in Brooklyn -Favorites of the Sub-Committee. The citizens' committee of one hundred which was formed three months ago in Brooklyn to select eight candidates for the judiciary ticket in the Second district, for recommendation to the regular nominating parties, will meet next Thursday night to hear the report of its committee of fifteen, to which the hard job of choosing the eight most available names from bunch of forty or fifty had been referred. It was understood yesterday that the subcommittee had wound up its labors and that it had decided to recommend the indorsement of four Democrats, three Republicans and one Independence Leaguer, the list being as follows:

County Judge Frederick E. Crane (Rep.) Abel E. Blackman (Rep.). Michel Furst (Rep.

Former County Judge William B. Hurd Isaac M. Kepper (Dem.)

Townsend Scudder (Dem. Howard R. Bayne (Dem.). Henry A. Powell (Independent League) It is likely that there will be some revision the list before final action is taken by the committee of one hundred. It is said that Mr. Furst does not desire his name to be used and that one or two others favored the sub-committee cannot command a majority of the full committee.

The labors of the citizens' committee may all come to naught through the action of the conventions which meet at Buffalo and Saratoga on Tuesday, and it is more than probable that there will be a full Independence League as well as a Democratic dependence League as well as a Democratic and a Republican judiciary ticket in the It is well known that Senator McCarren wants Luke D. Stapleton to be one of the Democratic candidates and that the absence of his name from the so-called citizen ticket would make it unsatisfactory to him, and it is also understood that Timothy L. Woodruff, the Republican leader in Kings county, would not approve the ticket of the committee of fifteen in its entirety. If the Hearstites launch a full ticket it will be headed by Henry A. Powell. Alfred E. Sander will be one of the other nominees.

COMING TO DENOUNCE HEARST. Roger Sullivan Starts for Buffalo at Norman E. Mack's Request. CHICAGO, Sept. 22.-Roger Sullivan, National Democratic committeeman from Illinois, and John P. Hopkins, his chief lieutenant, the two Democratic leaders of this State, left Chicago to-night for Buffalo. They went at the request of Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, who wishes them to tell the Democrats of New York the part that William Randolph Hearst is playing in Illinois politics.

Before leaving Mr. Sullivan said:
"I will urge the Democrats of New York to repudiate Hearst because he has been a traitor to the party in Illinois. I do not see how he can profess to be a Democrat in one State and at the same time fight the organization in another State. We Illinois Democrate cannot act with the Democrates of New York in national affairs if they indorse our bitterest opponent. JEROME, M'CLELLAN EXPECTS.

The Mayor Off to Buffalo To-Day, But Not as a Delegate.

Mayor McClellan will start for Buffalo this morning on the train leaving the Grand Central Station at 8:45. He will be accompanied by his secretaries, Frank M. O'Brien and William A. Willis. Mr. McClellan will be present at the convention as a private citizen and has refused to heed the pressure which has been brought to bear upon him which has been brought to bear upon him during the last day or two to attend the convention as a delegate. The Mayor declined to make any comment yesterday on the situation, except to repeat that he expected that District Attorney Jerome would prove the strongest candidate hefore the convention. The Mayor would not answer an inquiry as to whether in the event of Mr. Jerome failing to land the nomination he might be inclined to favor the nomination of Congressman Sulzer, the candidate of the Sullivans.

William R. Hearst is not a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He is a candidate to wrest from Democracy its emblem, its party flag and its traditions of 100 years. For the national committeeman and the State committeeman and the committeemen in this city and county, as well as the committeemen throughout the State, their duty is plain. They are intrusted by the voters to protect the party. They must either perform that duty or resign their positions. EVERYTHING IN THE AIR UNTIL IT IS RECEIVED. The Governor's Kitchen Cabinet Hopes to Nominate M. Linn Bruce if the Governor Refuses to Run-A Boom for T. L.

Woodruff -No Sentiment for Hughes. SARATOGA, Sept. 22.-Mystery surrounds he Republican situation here to-night. The members of Gov. Higgins's kitchen cabinet hardly believe that Gov. Higgins will consent to run again, and yet they have nothing to offer in that event except Lieut.-Gov. M. Linn Bruce as the Republican nominee for Governor. There is where the mystery begins. There are three sions of the situation. One is that Gov. Higgins's procrastination is but another evidence of his character in dealing with important questions which have given his enemies basis for severe criticism and that he will announce his intention to run before the entries close. A second interpretation of his course is that he is delaying the announcement that he will not run to a time when it will be too late for the creation of a sentiment in opposition to a slate prepared by his kitchen cabinet. The other solution of the situation offered is that Gov. Higgins and Francis Hendricks, who alone of the Governor's kitchen cabinet is in the confidence of President Roosevelt, have an understanding with the President that at the proper time they will favor the nomination of a man removed from any sort of influence, even of the newborn Republican State machine, who they think would be certain to win.

State Superintendent of Public Works N. V. V. Franchot has returned from his Olean mission with nothing definite to announce. The Governor's friends to-night said everything would be in the air unti the Governor's political advisers came to Saratoga this afternoon. So did National Committeeman William L. Ward, Representative Lucius N. Littauer and Repreentative J. Sloat Fassett.

The suggestion which emanated from the inner circles of the Governor's kitchen cabinet that M. Linn Bruce be nominated for Governor in the event of Gov. Higgins's retirement led to varied criticisms. If it were thought that Gov. Higgins would put himself out of the running and that Mr. Bruce was to be supported earnestly by the Governor's political coterie there would be several booms for Governor started. Such will be the result Monday if Gov. Higgins's decision is a refusal to run. Close friends of the Governor to-day insisted that there was no sentiment for Charles E. Hughes up the State.

The general impression is that if it is necessary to name some one to take Mr. Higgins's place at the head of the ticket the leaders who have the power to accomplish a nomination will have some trouble in securing a harmonious agreement upon the man they decide upon. It was during Independence League leaders are coming into our camp daily, and we expect to make large inroads upon the Hearst strength before election day comes round."

By way of bearing out this statement a delegation from the Independence League organization of the Twenty-eighth Assembly district showed up at the hotel in the evening before the meeting of the executive committee of all five boroughs. It was headed by Frederick Giesselman, who announced that the organization, whose headquarters are at 250 East Fourteenth street, had 250 members and that every one of them had turned against Hearst and had sent the delegation to seek admission to the Municipal Ownership League as a body. Independence League leaders are coming such a discussion of the situation to-day that friends of Timothy L. Woodruff of Brooklyn suggested to him that he would prove a most available candidate, and it was the opinion to-night that Mr. Woodruff would announce his candidacy instanter should Gov. Higgins decline. There was some talk of Postmaster Willcox as a high plane solution of what it is believed will be a serious problem to solve should Gov. Higgins eliminate himself. Yet there
